Attack On Premier Brings Wild Scene In French Chamber

Deputy Warns M. Chaumpeix and Three Cabinet Colleagues to Be Ready to Defend Themselves in Stavisky Scandal Debate
Day's Sitting Is Finally Adjourned

Paris, Jan. 23.—A warning that Premier Camille Chaumpeix himself and three members of his endangered cabinet would be named in documents on the Stavisky scandal was served on them to-day by Deputy Philippe Henriot in the Chamber of Deputies.
The excitement grew to such a pitch the sitting was adjourned. M. Henriot advised the Premier, Georges Bonnet, Minister of Finance; Eugene Raynaldy, Minister of Justice; and M. Laurenceau, Minister of Commerce, to be ready to defend themselves before the Chamber.
The nature of the documents in the Stavisky case, which shook France with the collapse of the Bayonne municipal pawnshop, was not disclosed.
MEMBERS SHOUT
The chamber was thrown into confusion by announcement of the deputy's action.
Shouting wildly and banging their desks, government supporters drowned out M. Henriot's voice.
For more than half an hour deputies shouted epithets, shook their fists at each other and yelled as M. Henriot first subjected Premier Chaumpeix to questioning on his career in Parliament and in law, and who his friends were.
Government opponents applauded M. Henriot and tried to outshout the Chaumpeix barker.
Vice-president Delbos finally suspended the session.

The French franc, closing at 6.28 cents, was up 1/4 of a cent.

Saskatchewan Swept By Blizzard To-day

One of Wildest Storms of This Winter Makes Things Uncomfortable For People; Alberta Has Varied Weather

Winnipeg, Jan. 23.—Sweeping across western Canada from the Far North, a high pressure area to-day brought sub-zero temperatures and heavy snow to many sections of the prairies.
Comparatively mild weather, which had prevailed in Alberta and Saskatchewan gave way before the bitter onslaught. Saskatchewan reported the worst blizzard of the winter raging widely through Saskatchewan.
In Manitoba—temperatures were dropping and colder weather generally was forecast throughout the plains. Winnipeg had 10 below zero yesterday evening.
Alberta had varied weather. Calgary had snow and at Edmonton the temperature mark early to-day was 12 below, the wind-blown snow hampering traffic.
Saskatoon fought a raging storm which threatened to tie up traffic.

New Cuban Government Is Recognized By United States

Associated Press
Washington, Jan. 23.—Ending six months of unofficial relations during which Cuba has been in turmoil, the United States to-day accorded recognition to the new government of President Carlos Menditea.

President Menditea, right above, took office several days ago after Carlos Hevia, left, had been in office only one day as Provisional President. The various groups agreed on the sixty-year-old veteran political leader as chief executive in place of the younger man, who is in his thirties.

Little Hope For B.C. Cities To Get Grants Back

Minister Warns Municipalities Not to Budget For More Financial Aid
December Session of Legislature Would Help Cities' Financial Plans

British Columbia Municipalities at present working on the preparation of their budgets would be well advised not to contemplate much help from the provincial government through the restoration of their grants or from other avenues, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, and the prospective leader of the proposed new Department of Municipalities, stated this morning.
Answering questions arising out of a recent speech he made in New Westminster, Mr. Gray said although it was difficult to make any definite statements until the return of the B.C. cabinet ministers from the Ottawa conference there were few indications at present of bringing down legislation at the session opening next month to meet the cities' requests for restoration of their grants.
CAN DO LITTLE
Unless something very decided came out of the Ottawa conference in the nature of financial aid to the province from the Dominion, the provincial government would be able to do little for the municipalities in restoring grants. The city of New Westminster, Mr. Gray mentioned, was in a much better position than the province of British Columbia. Mr. Gray expressed the view that the whole method of municipal taxation was unsound because there was no such thing as actual value. Assessment, he considered. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Views Differ About Ousting Of Workmen

Rev. R. Connell, C.C.F. Leader, Says Men Discharged at Powell River Because They Were C.C.F. Members

Rev. Robert Connell, leader of the C.C.F. Opposition in the Legislature, told an audience at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening that his party had accepted as a challenge the action of the Powell River Pulp and Paper Company in dismissing some of its employees because they were supporters of the C.C.F.
Such an attempt to dominate the opinions of dependent men was a condition of slavery, Mr. Connell declared.
Up to the present time the C.C.F. had been on the defensive. Now it would attack, he stated.
Two of those dismissed were men who had served with honor in the war and had families to support. It was a condition which could not be tolerated, Mr. Connell declared. He said that a number of men were agitating (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

They Were Agitators, Says Company Manager, and Many Other C.C.F. Men Left Undisturbed in Their Positions

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 23.—In charging the Powell River Company with dismissal of Co-operative Commonwealth Federation supporters, Rev. Robert Connell, M.P.P.-elect, "twisted" facts out of all proportion, A. E. McMaster, general manager of the company, declared to-day.
"We have 1,250 men in our company community at Powell River, B.C., and three-fifths of these men voted C.C.F. at the last provincial election," Mr. McMaster said. "In fact, the C.C.F. candidate in McKenna riding, which includes Powell River, was elected. We have never interfered in any way with the political leanings of our employees, and we have as happy a community as any company I have known."

OPEN WING NEXT APRIL

New Accommodation to Prevent Overcrowding in Essondale Mental Home

Will Add $43,000 Yearly to $800,000 Cost of Caring For B.C. Insane

The new wing of the Provincial Mental Home at Essondale, which was completed about three years ago, will be put into use and about 150 patients accommodated there on April 1. Hon. A. Wells Gray, acting Premier of British Columbia, announced this morning.

Most of the 150 men who will be put in the new wing will be returned soldiers, the wing originally having been built for veterans suffering from mental disorders.
Opening of the new wing will mean an estimated addition of $43,000 a year to the present $800,000 yearly gross cost of caring for the insane in mental homes of British Columbia.

The new wing is furnished and equipped ready for occupation. Overcrowding in the main institution has made the opening of the new quarters necessary. Returned soldiers for many years have pressed for the new wing to be put into use claiming there is an urgent need for separate quarters for returned soldiers suffering from mental troubles.

Cost of caring for mental cases among veterans is one of the matters which Hon. George M. Weir, provincial Secretary, will take up at Ottawa. The federal government assumes the responsibility for maintenance of veterans in mental homes whom they returned soldiers for whom the federal government makes, however, does not cover the whole cost, it is argued, and it is also claimed there are many returned soldiers for whom the federal government makes no allowance where allowances should be made.

Grafters Hunted In United States

Lady To Again Hunt Cougars

Noble Bloodhound Fully Recovered from Fight Several Weeks Ago

Fully recovered from her ordeal of several weeks ago when she was severely injured during a fight with a cougar, Lady Jim Burdett, prized bloodhound, will soon be able to leave Dr. Harry McKewen's veterinary hospital, according to a report this morning.

When she went into the hospital, Lady had a punctured lung, a torn shoulder and a lacerated face. To-day she only has a small cavity in the shoulder that has not healed. She is running around anxious to be in the woods again with her master.

Her mate, Quattle, who was also hurt in the cougar fight back at Shawinigan Lake, has been taken out of A-1 condition and is now roaming the Highland District with her master. Her injuries were not as extensive as Lady's and she left the hospital about a week ago.

U.S. DOLLAR IN LONDON

London, Jan. 23. (Associated Press).—The United States dollar moved nervously on the foreign exchange market here to-day, depreciating 1 1/2 cents to the pound and closing at $3.00 1/2. Gold currencies were quiet, the French franc closing at 79.7 to the pound, the same as yesterday.

GALE HOWLS OVER CITY

Wind Reached Fifty-five Miles An Hour This Morning Between 3 and 4 o'clock

Reaching a velocity of fifty-five miles an hour between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning, a wind from the south and southwest, of gale-like proportions, blew over Victoria most of the night, and at noon to-day was still blowing at twenty-four miles, according to a report issued at the Meteorological Observatory at Gonzales Heights.

It was one of the strongest winds of the present winter season, which has been featured by unusually severe gales. Only minor damage, such as fences being blown down, bricks off chimneys, and broken windows in scores of homes was reported. The houses in the city shook as the gale raged during the night.

A deluge of rain yesterday evening about 9:30 o'clock added still further to the wet record. Victoria is hanging up this month. For the twenty-four hour period ending at 5 o'clock this morning a total of 1.63 inches of rain fell in Victoria, making the total rainfall so far this month 6.52. The average rainfall for January is 4.23 inches, so that (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Hope For Recovery of Well-known Manitoban Reported Fading

Winnipeg, Jan. 23.—Senator Robert Forke, "the Pioneer of Pipestone," was fighting for life in a hospital here to-day. Despite his gallant struggle, physicians feared he would not recover.

Stricken with a heart attack New Year's Eve, Senator Forke, who is seventy-three, was removed to the hospital. His condition at the time was not considered serious, but it gradually became worse. For the last few days he has hovered between life and death. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

Sees "Penda" Third Time and Says Face Is Of Flesh Color

CYRIL B. ANDREWS REPORTS SEA SERPENT AGAIN VISITOR AT PENDER ISLAND; TWO FRIENDS WITH HIM AT TIME; SEEMED TO BE FEEDING OFF HERRING BUT WAS CONSTANTLY ATTACKED BY SEAGULLS

For the third time in two months, Cyril B. Andrews on Thursday afternoon saw "Penda" Cadboroensis at South Pender Island, after which she was named. Mr. Andrews was accompanied by Arthur Pender and Eileen McKay. It was the second time Mr. Pender has seen "Penda."

"We watched it for twenty-five minutes while it was apparently feeding in a herring bed near Wallace Point," Mr. Andrews stated over the long distance telephone this morning, "and at various times most of the top of the body was visible. It had no serrated back and was about forty feet long, and I have no doubt it was exactly the same thing that I have seen twice before."

"We were on the wharf at Bedwell Harbor at 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon when we noticed a commotion in the water. The serpent did not show itself.

Arthur and I walked out to the Indian Reserve at the point at the entrance to the harbor, and there we saw 'Penda' come out of the bay. We could plainly see it undulating as it traveled towards Wallace Point. Apparently it was feeding time, because it went out to the herring bed, and there we watched it for twenty-five minutes.

"There were seagulls flying around it and they kept pecking at it. 'Penda' snapped at them, but did not get any that we saw. While it was around the herring bed we could clearly see five humps out of the water at same time as it undulated. It did not have a serrated back and the head most of the time was about a foot out of water."

"There was a dark stripe along its back, and not a sign of flippers or fins. Another thing we could see that it had a flesh colored face with no whiskers."

Mr. Andrews and Arthur Pender are (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

HORSEMAN HELD ON DRUG CHARGE

Miami, Fla., Jan. 23.—The finding in his home of more than 100 grains of narcotics and alleged formulas for "doping" race horses to-day led to the arrest of Harry Cooper, well-known Canadian horse owner and trainer at Hialeah.

Members of the Florida Racing Commission, who are waging an active campaign to stamp out the use of narcotics on horses now stabled at Florida tracks, joined immediately in an investigation launched by state and federal authorities.

Immigration officers also began an inquiry into reports that Cooper allegedly had entered this country illegally from Toronto.

VOTERS REJECT SUNDAY MOVIES

Bournemouth, Eng., Jan. 23.—Wide attention was given to-day to the results of a poll directed by the question of Sunday movie picture performances in this great seaside resort. In a poll of 28,000, 52 per cent of the electorate, Sunday movies were rejected by a majority of 6,500.

The moving picture industry in this country, it is understood, looks on the Bournemouth vote as a conclusive indication there is no general desire for Sunday movies outside of London.

Speech Made By Foreign Minister

By Glenn Babb
Associated Press Foreign Staff
Tokio, Jan. 23.—An anti-militarist tenor marked the first interpellation in the Japanese Diet to-day when members of the cabinet completed their statements of policy and declared questioning in order, following resumption of the session after the New Year recess.

Count Yoshino, Nippon opened by criticizing the government for permitting publication of inflammatory articles and predictions of war.
"The so-called national spirit fostered by such incitations is not the true spirit of Nippon, in which an international outlook is inherent. The true Samurai spirit seeks to prevail without fighting," Count Futaba declared.

"I quite agree," said Premier Makoto Saito.
Home Minister Baron Tatemasa Yamamoto, in charge of censorship said the government was acting to control such publications.

NAVY MINISTER'S VIEW
"I agree with Count Futaba's definition of the Nippon spirit," chimed in Admiral Mineo Osumi, Minister of the Navy.
"I agree with the Navy Minister," put in the newly-appointed Minister of War Gen. Senjuro Hayashi, who only Monday succeeded the pneumonia-stricken Gen. Sadao Araki in that important office.

FOREIGN MINISTER SPOKE
Groundwork for this anti-militarist barrage was laid earlier to-day in the pronouncement of Foreign Minister Koki Hirota on the empire's delicate relations with Soviet Russia and China and improving contacts between Japan and the United States.

(Foreign Minister's Speech)
Tokio, Jan. 23.—Foreign Minister Koki Hirota told the Japanese Diet to-day that "between Japan and the United States of America, there exists no question intrinsically difficult of solution."
He asserted that Japan "fervently desires American friendship."

At the same time, he said: "It is most surprising and regrettable that Soviet Russia should direct 'unwarranted criticisms against Japan.' He told the legislators the Japanese government believed "proper adjustment of the tripartite relationship between Japan, Manchukuo and the Soviet Union was of paramount importance for the tranquility of East Asia."

EMPIRE NAVAL LEADERS Confer At Singapore

British, Australian and New Zealand Commanders Discuss Developments in the Far East

Canadian Press and Associated Press
Singapore, Straits Settlements
Jan. 23.—British, Australian and New Zealand naval commanders were called together in strictest secrecy aboard the cruiser Kent here to-day to discuss Great Britain's naval policy in the Far East.

Their deliberations were expected to have far-reaching effects on Great Britain's Far Eastern attitude. The conferees were gathered in an atmosphere made tense with interest in Japan's naval building moves and a bill in the United States Congress proposing 120 new warships.

The Kent, meeting place of the conference, is the flagship of Admiral Sir Frederic Charles Dreyer, commander-in-chief of the British China station.

Seven men-of-war, including three cruisers, an airplane carrier and destroyers brought the naval dignitaries together.

FOUR-POINT DISCUSSION
Although the agenda was secret, it was understood to comprise a four-point programme:
Singapore's future as a naval centre, progress of naval base construction work in Singapore, the Far Eastern situation and matters of general policy in connection with the local base.

Port Alberni, B.C., Jan. 23.—Nine Chinese employees of a shingle bolt camp at Canoe Pass, B.C., had been living on rice and salt for four weeks, according to evidence submitted at an inquest here into the deaths of three Chinese shingle bolt cutters, Wong Quong Ying, fifty-one; Leung Yuen Hung, forty; and Lui Pong, fifty-three. The men are believed to have died from beri-beri, caused by a deficiency of Vitamin "B" in the diet. Two other Chinese employees of the camp are recovering in hospital.

The inquest was adjourned to February 1, when pathological reports will be heard following post mortems.

Great Britain and Ireland and British Dominions Across the Sea, King, Defender of the Faith and Emperor of India.

Under proclamation of 1928, however, the words "of the United Kingdom" had been struck out of the title and therefore the writ had been wrongly issued, Mr. Elliott claimed.

J. B. Clearburn, counsel for the plaintiff, said it was apparent the copy of the writ served had been one of the old forms and the original was in proper form.

Mr. Elliott's other point dealt with the testing of the writ by "the chief justice." It had been tested in the name of "Aulay Macaulay Morrison, Chief Justice of British Columbia" and this should read "Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of British Columbia," he maintained.

Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson reserved his decision on the two points, the latter being of interest to the legal profession in view of the general procedure followed here.

INSULL APPEAL IS CONSIDERED

Toronto, Jan. 23.—The Ontario Appellate Court to-day reserved judgment on the appeal of Martin J. Insull, one-time Chicago utilities monarch against dismissal of a motion for discharge from custody.

With an order of extradition against him, the appeal was Insull's last stand to evade trial in Cook County, Illinois, on charges of embezzlement and grand larceny.

Sir William Mulock, ninety-year-old Chief Justice of Ontario, and four of his colleagues heard argument for and against the appeal.

Immediately after Sir William had announced the court would reserve decision, I. P. Hellmuth, K.C., defence counsel, made application for renewal of bail of $20,000 for Insull. At a hearing later this application was granted.

Anti-militarist Note In Japanese Diet

powers occupying geographically similar key positions, one in the east and the other in the west, can effectively serve the cause of universal peace through sympathetic appreciation of their respective stands and wholehearted collaboration in all quarters of the world.

"It is in this sense that our government is seeking to readjust whatever conflict of interests relating to questions of trade there may be, and to strengthen further the ties of friendship that bind our empires. That our negotiations with India, an important member of the British Empire, over knotty problems of commerce have now been substantially concluded, is a source of gratification on both sides."

ATE OF MANCHUKUO

The Foreign Minister gave the question of Manchukuo, the state which Japan created in Manchuria, first place in his address. He referred to the withdrawal of Japan from the League of Nations last year, giving his reason as "that there was no agreement between Japan and the League on the fundamental principles of preserving the peace in East Asia."

CORDIAL RELATIONS

M. Hirota said relations between Japan and "friendly powers in general" became closer and more cordial following the empire's withdrawal from the league.

He referred to the approaching coronation of Henry Pu-Yi as Emperor of Manchukuo with the words, "a decision as to what to be made on the establishment of a monarchical regime which has been so eagerly awaited by all her (Manchukuo's) people and which will go far to solidify the foundations of Manchukuo as a nation."

"This," he said, "is a matter of congratulation, not for Manchukuo alone, but for the peace of the Orient and for the peace of the world."

PEACE IN FAR EAST

He described the Japanese Government as having a serious responsibility for the maintenance of peace in East Asia and as having made a firm resolve "in that regard." He said the most important essential to peace in Eastern Asia, however, was "the stabilization of China herself."

"Our government," the Foreign Minister told the Diet, "sincerely hopes for the political and economic rehabilitation of China. It hopes she will be able to unite with Japan in performing the obvious mission of both Japan and China. To contribute, through mutual aid and co-operation, to the peaceful development of their part of the globe."

He said he regretted that thus far the actual situation in China belied such a hope. It had been reported to him the Chinese Government had decided to take steps "looking toward the rectification of Sino-Japanese relations," but he had seen no evidence of actual action. He said that if such steps were forthcoming, Japan would be glad to meet China "more than half way."

RUSSIA'S POSITION

He brought the Soviet Union into his speech in close sequence to his discussion of Sino-Japanese relations, particularly as they revolve about Manchukuo. He said that even after the creation of Manchukuo, there had been a "thorough mutual understanding" between Japan and Russia.

On the basis of this understanding, he said, "no difficult question was encountered." Now, however, he said, "the attitude of the Soviet Union toward Japan seems to have undergone a change of some sort." This change he described as "most surprising and regrettable."

He said the "change" was symbolized by the Soviet Union "broadcasting at home and abroad through the press and other channels unwarranted criticisms directed against Japan."

The Foreign Minister informed the legislators flatly: "Japan certainly is setting up no new military establishment along the Manchukuo and Soviet frontiers, Moscow propaganda notwithstanding."

His discussion of relations with Russia ended on a note of optimism, for he said: "I am sure that before long the Soviet Union must come to appreciate fully the true intentions of Japan."

U.S. AND EASTERN ASIA

Then he turned decidedly to the question of relations with the United States and said:

"I am confident the United States will not fail to appraise correctly Japan's position in East Asia."

"Temporary estrangement" of the people of Japan and the United States was brought about, he asserted, by the outbreak of "the Manchurian incident." But, he continued, he believed America would come to realize "Japan's role as the stabilizing force in East Asia." When that realization came, he said, he believed any "emotional tension" yet lingering between the two peoples would disappear.

The speaker said word of the dismissals had already been in the press. He said the company's products were used in

"GOD SAVE THE KING"

In his address Mr. Connell discussed the attitude of the C.C.F. toward the dismissal of the men at the King. He said this was a matter entirely for individual taste. There was no divine necessity for the C.C.F. to sing it. It was not sung in their homes before breakfast nor in most of the churches either.

This, however, did not affect the loyalty of the party to the King and the King might be stronger for the lack of display.

"I am glad, on the other hand, to hear 'O Canada' sung at our meetings. The C.C.F. are the truly patriotic people of this country. The right patriotism is shown by those who want to get out and do something for their country—not like the cheap variety which haunts a flag up a pole and salutes it," he continued.

TYPICAL SYSTEM

Mr. Connell held up Prime Minister R. B. Bennett as typical of a capitalistic system which permitted slums in a land of wealth. The Prime Minister had shown an entire lack of feeling for the underdog, but was finely attuned to the needs of the bondholders and financiers like others in the old time parties.

Mr. Bennett maintained a system which the C.C.F. believed was outworn. His recent visit to Vancouver had been of great assistance to the new party because it showed him up in contradiction.

The speaker dealt with attacks on the C.C.F. by reason of its ethical, moral and materialistic viewpoints. It was neither unethical nor immoral to hope for the consummation of a brotherhood of man in which human happiness would prevail, he declared. It was the capitalistic system to which these terms applied as it permitted war, economic wastage and human waste.

NOT ATHEISTIC

The movement certainly could not be classed as atheistic, he asserted, in view of the number of church members and retired clergymen who were taking part in it. As a matter of fact Socialism, in its true concept was the scientific approach to Christianity.

"Capitalism stands condemned to-day. Its proponents are past-masters in the art of calling ugly names but names do not win battles. The last two or three years have seen a lifting of the robes of capitalism and we are beginning to see the grizzly skeleton beneath. It is eating more and more into the middle classes with taxation and ruin," he said.

Mr. Connell also took up the question of section 98 in the Criminal Code, claiming it was against the tradition which Britain had set up years ago as a refuge for the political refugees of Europe. A distinction should be made between political prisoners and those of other varieties. He thought Tim Buck and the others now imprisoned in the east should be released.

W. E. Speed was chairman of the meeting which filled the auditorium. Reference was made to the enthusiastic meetings recently held by Mr. Connell in Vancouver.

THEY WERE AGITATORS, SAYS COMPANY MANAGER, AND MANY OTHER C.C.F. MEN LEFT UNDISCHARGED

following the election, however, and we had to let them go," the general manager continued. "As a matter of fact, some of these men were not C.C.F. supporters."

TRADE QUESTION

With regard to Mr. Connell's reported statement that word of the alleged dismissals had been sent to countries where the lumber products of the company were used, Mr. McMaster said any injury to the Powell River Company's trade would be felt by the men as much as by the company, so such action was "positively satelite."

ROUGH TRIPS

The sea off Victoria was covered with whitecaps this morning, and big waves were dashing over the rocks, sending spray high into the air. Ships off this port reported rough voyages during the night but none were delayed. The Princess Joan, arriving from Vancouver, and the Iroquois from Seattle and Port Angeles experienced a dusting. The Princess Norah, which left yesterday evening for the west coast, ran into the full fury of the storm heading around Cape Flattery early this morning.

Cold weather continues in Alaska and the Yukon, and at Dawson this morning the temperature was 64 degrees below zero. It is still raining heavily throughout Washington, and rivers in that state are commencing to cause damage as they overflow their banks. The forecast issued at Gonzales this morning was for clearer, brighter weather at Victoria, and possibly colder.

Another activity during the night was a mysterious trip by truck to the brewing company, of which Adolph Bremer is president. The truck drove up to the rear of the Adolph Bremer home, Police Chief Dahill and Charles Tierney, inspector of detectives, were reported to have been at the home at the time, but Chief Dahill later denied this. Later the truck left. Its destination and purpose were not disclosed.

Thousands of police protected the chamber, which was in a virtual state of siege.

In his attack on Premier Chautemps, M. Henriot said he regretted that Gen. Barbier de Fourty, a member of the board of directors of one of Stavisky's companies, was defended in 1932 by M. Chautemps.

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Paris, Jan. 23.—Paris passes from riot to riot, from scandal to scandal, in these turbulent days while the government of Premier Camille Chautemps sits unseated.

"Manifestations" are a nightly occurrence—4,000 police were called out to battle yesterday evening. On the right bank of the Seine state employees demonstrate against pay cuts and are only dispersed after repeated police charges and numerous arrests.

On the left bank the Royalists—the "Camelots du Roi"—of the Action Française—storm down the Boulevard St. Germain and the Boulevard Raspail, chanting refrains which ring back to the days of the Revolution.

Maurice Pujo, chief editor of the newspaper Action Française, was among 800 persons arrested in yesterday evening's demonstrations. But the newspaper to-day returned with big black-letter appeals for bigger demonstrations than ever, and demands for a clean sweep by the evening broom.

Police win their street battles; but not until the boulevard look as though a tornado had passed. The iron grille about the base of trees are thrown across the car tracks, barricades are set up with wooden benches and overturned street lamps.

The demonstrators evidently follow predetermined plan. They "manifest" until police arrive in full force. Then, offering no resistance, they disperse again to "manifest" elsewhere.

The repercussions of the great Stavisky frauds, which led to the present tension challenge the regime itself.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S IMPROVEMENT

This province's improved business condition, noted in the October Quarterly Survey of the Bank of Nova Scotia, has been maintained during the past quarter, according to the January issue of the bank's regular summary. The underlying cause of the upward movement is, of course, to be found in the general betterment in the condition of the three major basic industries—lumbering, mining and fishing.

The rate of operations in the lumbering industry during 1933 advanced from a low point of about sixteen per cent of capacity in January, to a level of almost fifty per cent throughout the latter part of the year. This increase is a result of the revival of export trade rather than any notable improvement in domestic demand. The volume of exports for the first ten months of 1933 was about forty per cent larger than that for the corresponding ten months of 1932, as a result of greatly increased shipments to the United Kingdom, China and South Africa. In addition, prices of finished lumber were higher than those of the previous year. The winter cut will, therefore, be larger this season than last.

Mining industries were somewhat more active during the past three months than during the corresponding period of 1932, the bank's review says; and the size of the working force has, accordingly, increased slightly over the period. The most encouraging feature of the situation, as in Ontario, was the increase in the production of base metals during the past half-year, in this province, particularly of lead and zinc.

We are told that the output of the salmon canneries was considerably larger last year than during the previous season and at the same time fishermen received higher prices for their catches. The demand for canned salmon is brisk and stocks are being rapidly reduced, although the price for this product is low.

From the standpoint of the farmer, the year was not encouraging. While the output of dairy products was larger than that of 1932, prices are still low and the increase in the cost of milfed feed has added to the difficulties of the producer. The apple harvest was about twenty per cent smaller than that of the previous season, and prices, to date, have been discouraging.

The volume of retail trade, says the bank's statement in conclusion, appears to be somewhat more satisfactory.

GETTING ENGLAND'S SHARE

With good reason we have been suspecting for some time that we have been getting somebody else's share of rain. It has been impossible to accept the downpour on this coast during the winter without assuming that somewhere there was a severe shortage. One of the areas suffering thus has been England. From reports, it has been as unreasonably dry there as it has been wet here.

Official weather returns set down 1933 as a year to be remembered in England for its sunshine. It was the sunniest year there since 1899, with the sunniest summer since 1911. Its August was the sunniest of the present century, while the Whitman season was the sunniest on record. For the whole year there was lacking only seven hours of sunshine to set a new record for London. The high point was set in 1899 when Kew registered 1,765 hours of sunshine. In 1933, sunshine "hourage" was 1,759. Compared with Victoria, of course, this appears low, as our total number of hours of sunshine last year was 2,161 and that was twenty-six hours below the average.

Unfortunately, England's plentitude of sunshine was accompanied by an unprecedented drought, which has carried through from the summer into the winter, causing serious difficulties in many country districts where water supplies have been drying up. For instance, at the year-end a child died and three others were taken seriously ill through drinking impure water from an almost dried-up stream after the well at their Berkshire cottage had run dry. Such incidents have aroused public opinion and there have followed demands that the government do something. In consequence, the Minister of Health has proposed a bill to the Commons for the appropriation of one million pounds for rural water supplies. And it is now being urged that he go further and institute a survey of England's whole water problem while it is acute so as to guard against the danger of further shortage in case England should be favored with more sunny, droughty seasons.

In England drought relief is as pressing as the problem of flood control and the repair of damage from excessive rains on this coast. However, it may be comforting to us on dull, sodden days or nights to learn from England's case that the opposite extreme of what we have been experiencing here is even less satisfactory. But to-day in Victoria, after last night's rain and blast, the weather is in a somewhat contrite mood and is trying to make amends. We hope it will not slip back into its recently "sloppy" ways.

KEEP YOUR HEADS

"Even temporary suspension of government by the people or any assertion of power must inevitably weaken the ability of the people to govern themselves."—Mr. J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., speaking before the Vancouver Institute the other day.

The former Attorney-General of British Columbia has plenty of support for his contention in post-war political history. We may look at Russia, Italy, and Germany and get a picture of what government by dictatorship means.

We shall be told that Russia is solving her problem. This may be so; but government at Moscow permits of no opposition. It has been said that something in the nature of a social and economic miracle has been performed in Italy since the famous march on Rome twelve years ago. No opposition is permitted there. Mussolini's hold on the people recently has been strengthened. It is, of course, Italy's business. Nazi Germany is supposed to present an example to the world of the latest form of successful demagogic control. The events of recent months will produce their repercussions in due time. There are still millions of Germans to whom the swastika is like a red rag to a bull.

Mr. Farris very properly pointed out to his large audience that no dictator or demagogue has arisen and held power in the British Empire. In lands where governmental institutions form the bulwark of democracy there need be no fear of "shirtism" gaining the ascendancy.

Britain is being amused at the moment by Lord Rothermere, who wants the Mosley type of Fascism to replace the present form of government there, but he is merely wasting his time. Sir Oswald Mosley formerly was a Socialist member of the British House of Commons, a very wealthy one, too. He evidently has got the "bug" that all is wrong with Britain, and that he can put things right by the transferring of funeral drapery from the Tiber to the Thames. But he will not stir the average Briton—who takes his politics very, very seriously.

We quote Mr. Farris on the main question with which he dealt. He said:

The root of our trouble is human selfishness. If the teachings of the Christian church were accepted by those who call themselves Christians, conditions would be greatly different. The spirit of selfishness and brotherly love is no further ahead after 2,000 years of Christianity and until this condition is cured, schemes for reform which leave human nature out of account will fail.

The lecturer's final admonition was: "In the midst of change of multiplicity of leaders let us not lose our heads; the present is a time of great possibility for good and corresponding danger of evil." This injunction ought to be noted by every Canadian who really desires this Dominion to find a solution for the various ills with which it at present is confronted, without recourse to expedients which run contrary to the governmental ideals of the English-speaking peoples.

A GREAT LOSS TO FOOTBALL

There are many football enthusiasts in Victoria, up in Nanaimo, in other parts of this province, and throughout the Dominion who perhaps felt a little lump rise in their throats when they received the news the other day that that great manager and organizer, Herbert Chapman, the guiding genius of the Woolwich Arsenal Football Club, had heard the last whistle. Death came unexpectedly on a Saturday morning and cast a gloom over every football field that afternoon, not only in the United Kingdom, but also in Continental Europe, where he was well known. The following editorial from The Manchester Guardian is a fine tribute to the man who did so much for football:

"Herbert Chapman, manager of the Arsenal Football Club, who died unexpectedly on Saturday morning, will be remembered as the most notable figure in the football world for at least a decade. He was in his way a great showman, believing that in order to make money a club must not hesitate to spend. He made one great team, Huddersfield Town, with small resources; he paid very high sums for the transfer of players who would, he thought, transform a good Arsenal team into a great one, and the success which resulted was astonishing.

"Chapman did his work with all his heart and all his strength. He was for ever studying his opponents and thinking out plans of campaign for their discomfiture. He was a stern but kindly disciplinarian, for he had himself been a professional footballer, and he took a personal interest in his men off the field as well as on it. In some ways he went too far for his contemporaries; his schemes for night football and limitation of transfer fees have not yet received the support for which he had hoped. He was almost as well known in other European countries as in Great Britain, for he worked for the good of football in every land.

"Manchester City and Manchester United have lost a particularly good friend, and they are not alone. Those clubs who lowered their flags to half-mast during Saturday's games paid a deserved tribute."

PEACE IN THE BALKANS
Fort William Times-Journal

One of the curious features of present-day politics in Europe is the example which is being set by the Balkan States in the peaceful settlement of difficulties. A few years ago the stock phrase was that there was trouble in the Balkans, and these countries were regarded as the danger spot of Europe. To-day the Balkan States, including even Turkey, have agreed upon conventions between them while the major powers, who used to regard the Balkans as the home of fire-breands, are finding it difficult to arrive at any understanding that will assure peace.

LIQUOR FOR THE CONDEMNED
The Brooklyn Eagle

In refusing to let a condemned murderer at Sing-Sing have liquor before execution, Warden Lawes takes a course contrary to that of Governor Rolph of California, who granted such a request last October. People criticized Rolph for taking the edge off the most severe punishment that the law provides; other people are likely to criticize Warden Lawes for not doing this. If the death penalty has a social value, that value lies partly in the total removal of the offender, but partly also in discouraging all others who might by offense incur the same punishment. The deterrent effect of the death penalty depends on its unpleasantness. And a good many others, besides the man now in question, might think the outlook much less unpleasant if the penalty were softened by the previous administration of whiskey.

A THOUGHT

And Moses chose able men out of all Israel, and made them heads over the people, rulers of thousands, rulers of hundreds, rulers of fifties, and rulers of tens. —Exodus xviii 25.

Loose Ends

Yes, we only need a few peanuts — an atheist objects to religion here—the young Russians want styles — in New York they eat rats—and there is objection next door.

By H. B. W.

GROSS FEEDERS

THE TROUBLE WITH our civilization, just contrary to the general belief, is that it eats too much. Some professors of the Carnegie Institute have been going into this question with elaborate equipment and numerous human guinea pigs for experimentation and they have concluded that all the energy needed for an hour of intense mental effort can be obtained by eating half a peanut, or a gram of sugar, or one and a half grams of white bread or four grams of bananas.

For example, the experts say, a household engaged in sweeping and dusting the study of a college professor would expend as much caloric energy in three minutes as the professor would expend during an hour of intensive work in his books. Two lumps of sugar would run a man resting quietly for about an hour, a pat of butter for an hour and a half and a doughnut for about three hours. But if he sits up, the amount of fuel increases 5 per cent, and if he stands it increases 10 per cent.

If you think all day, you need only two or three peanuts or half a boiled egg. Yet our statesmen and our great leaders of industry seem to absorb considerably more than three peanuts or half a boiled egg. The only possible conclusion, disagreeable as it may be, is that they don't think most of the time. One had suspected that before.

We might try feeding our governors and captains of business on half a dozen peanuts each, so as to start the cure gradually, or an entire egg for the day, and see if that wouldn't produce more thoughtful management and better government. In this way we might save the economic system from eating itself to death. Also many of our ablest citizens.

ATHEIST

AN ARDENT ATHEIST of deep convictions has written to attack my scurrilous references to the present series of debates between Aimee Semple Hutton (McPherson) and a representative of the American Society for the Advancement of Atheism. My correspondent thinks that we atheist too lightly and don't appreciate its social and economic significance.

His argument, well expressed by Lenin, is that religion is "opium for the people," that the churches of the world have invariably been used (as Hitler is trying to use them in Germany, for example) to bolster up the ruling classes. In this way the atheist too lightly and don't appreciate its social and economic significance.

Therefore, says my friend, atheism is essential to reform in a big way, as the Russian Communists have realized. Until they abolished God they could not expect the people to worship their economic machines or food. It is undivided loyalty. This fellow doesn't think we shall get very far in remedying our earthly state until atheism is generally accepted and the foolish notions of religion thoroughly extracted from our minds.

It is an interesting and ingenious argument. In other words, we have perverted religion as we have perverted nearly everything else and misused it. We have created an unsatisfactory economic system. Therefore, the solution is to abolish religion. In the same way we have misused machinery with unsatisfactory results. According to this argument we should abolish all machines and go back and live in caves, as we might abolish food because so many people eat themselves to death.

There is really nothing wrong with religion or machines or food. It is the way you use them that matters. Atheism is probably more honest than

RAT EATERS

YOU MUST REMEMBER that men, for all their outside adornment, are still pretty primitive. For example, I have just been reading the annual report of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in New York. This interesting document states that in 1933 the society was successful in prosecuting two men for throwing live cats into furnaces, one for strapping a turkey back downward to a pair of roller skates, and two, mark you, for biting the heads off live rats. That was for New York alone, and those were the cases where the guilty persons were found out. What other innumerable cases of a similar nature occurred without being found out we shall never know.

Don't be too impatient of progress in the world when you are dealing with a race of creatures which still occasionally bites off rats' heads, as it doubtless used to do as a regular thing a few thousand years ago. Don't expect too much in our time. Even after all our gallant efforts there will still be plenty of trouble and plenty of troublesome men in the world when we turn over the job to our children.

GRAVE PROTEST

I HEAR, SAID the little girl from next door to me just now, "that you been and wrote things about me in the papers. Mr. Pudbury told me he was reading about me being at the Empress Hotel for tea. That's what I call mean. You got to stop writing about me in the papers, specially when I can't read it. I want you to promise not to write anything more about me because it will make my children ashamed when they read what you wrote about their mummy."

"How," I said, "do you expect me to make a living then?" "Write about my brother," she said promptly. "He's too young to have any sense and doesn't care."

"Well," I said, "I won't write anything more about you unless the people want me to. Unless I hear from the great public insisting that you be reported I shall delete you forever."

"Well, you can delete me," she said, "so long as you don't write about me. That is, unless I do something pretty clever."

But who knows of their birthplace beyond
And who fathoms the hearts within?
We say they are ardent and strong and bold

But they come of a race that is strange and old
And who guess when a gypsy grieves?

Yesterday afternoon, under the name of the Vancouver Island Development League, the delegates from different parts of the island in attendance at the Board of Trade rooms formally launched the association, which is to have for its object the more complete opening up of this part of the Dominion.

The Legislative Press Gallery met to organize for the session yesterday afternoon. The officers elected were: Honorary president, Hon. Richard McBride; president, William Blakemore, Victoria; secretary, James Morton, The News-Advertiser, Vancouver. It is the intention of the gallery to wait upon Speaker Eberts on Monday in reference to securing a room for the members of the press to do their work in.

Clifford DeHamm was a passenger on board the Steamer Princess this morning from Seattle.

Evidence of a shipwreck of some considerable magnitude is embodied in dispatches received here to-day of a vessel which is lying wrecked on Sea Bird Rocks, opposite Pachena Bay. She was at first thought to be a two-masted schooner. A later report stated she was a four-masted schooner with the two after masts gone. Just as The Times is going to press a dispatch from Banfield states that the wreck is evidently the remains of a large ship and observation from Banfield, which is some fourteen miles distant, shows three men aboard and four men on the rocks, where a fire has been lit.

Immediately the vessel was seen from Banfield the steamer Leebro, which was lying there under charter to the Dominion government, put out for the scene. She took the lifeboat crew, who used the steamer's boat to make their way to the wrecked ship.

SANBACH SCHOOLS

To the Editor:—On one of those cheerful, rainy nights—for which in these latter days Victoria, the sunshine city, has become famous—I sat in at a meeting of the Sanbach High School Parent-Teacher Association. There and then I heard a thing or two which ought to be broadcast beyond the faithful few who "braved" the weather, who laughed at the darkness black as the pit along the Carey Road and on all sides of that centre of enlightenment, the high school, and merely murmured as they pulled themselves out of the mud after a passing juggernaut, let us ask the trustees to petition the council to beg the B.C.E. Company to stick in a couple of lamps right here.

How many of us have more than a very hazy idea of those activities of trustees, of teachers and of parents, who, since the establishment of the Sanbach High School, have done at least something to make the environment of their school life more tolerable, pleasanter and more profitable for our boys and girls? Without games and sports to bring them into competition with each other and with those from other halls of learning, there can be none of that spirit of emulation and derring-do which is the lifeblood of the school—the tradition most valued in all British educational institutions.

On the inception of the Sanbach high school, this parent-teacher association was organized with the declared object of doing something (outside, of course, of the ordinary curriculum) to make things easier and more cheerful for every pupil. On those lines it was decided in the first place to bend every energy towards the beautification of the surroundings, and the provision of adequate playing fields, on a site naturally unsuitable and difficult decided that there was not sufficient

ARRANGES SYMPHONY'S VISIT

Arrangements for the visit to Victoria on Monday, February 5, of the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, are being made by the Victoria committee, headed by Mrs. Hermann Robertson, shown above, who is acting as chairman in the absence of Lady Barnard. This will be the second visit of the symphony, which is conducted by Allard de Ridder, this season.

FLEES LUXURY

Life was too easy for Viola Sayles, above, pretty nineteen-year-old Carnegie Tech drama student, daughter of wealthy Pittsburgh parents, and she slipped away to Cleveland and found a job, so she could pay for her own education.

BATTLED SEAS

Another of the courageous men who braved the boiling surf at Foul Bay Monday week, was Hugh Vallant, 2023 Marine Street, who is shown above. Vallant and Jack Kemp put out in a boat which was swamped. Vallant was rescued by a human chain and was in such a serious state that he was removed to hospital, where he remained for several days.

STRANGE MONUMENT TO AIR FLEET

A monument, expressive and symbolic, yet erected without benefit of sculptor, is this strange structure unveiled in Hamburg as both a memorial and a protest. The memorial—to the German air fleet destroyed or surrendered after the war—is symbolized by the airplane motor and propeller. The protest—against the Versailles treaty under whose terms the fleet was demolished—is indicated by the chains.

DAYTIME DARKNESS IN BRITISH METROPOLIS

At least three times during the last month the British capital has been enshrouded with a bank of fog which has completely tied up traffic by road and air. In some cases bus conductors have had to walk ahead of the buses with lanterns. This picture, taken at mid-day, shows the fog completely shutting out the daylight so that all buildings and buses had to "light up." The buses are waiting to pick up passengers at London Bridge.

TORONTO IN 1834 AND 1934

This is centennial year in Toronto, and the Queen City is making elaborate preparations to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of its incorporation as a city. These remarkably interesting pictures show the almost unbelievable growth of Toronto between 1834 and 1934. In the lower picture is a view of King Street in 1834, looking east from the corner of York Street, with the British Coffee House on the right. The top view, taken from almost the same spot, gives a good idea of King Street as it is to-day. In the distance on the left is the Toronto Star building, while on the right can be seen the Bank of Commerce skyscraper, which is the tallest building in the British Empire.

NEW 200 H.P. TRAIN FOR DESERT TRAVEL

A new 200 h.p. train has been built in England for the desert mail service from Damascus to Baghdad, which contains refrigerators, facilities for toilet and for the serving of hot refreshments as well as other luxuries. The equipment which comprises twelve Pullman and twenty first-class passenger cars has been shipped to the East for service. The train is pulled by a tractor containing a Diesel engine driven on all three axles of the car, and the journey of 536 miles is completed in eighteen hours running time.

CODEx REACHES LONDON

The Codex Sinaiticus, the famous fourth century manuscript of the Bible, which broke into the news when the British Government announced its purchase from the Soviet Union for $500,000, is shown above on its arrival at the British Museum. The British Government paid half of the purchase price and the remainder is being raised by public subscription. The Soviet government agreed to spend the entire half million in the British Isles. Top is a page of the coveted manuscript, while below Mr. Maggs, who negotiated the sale, is shown handing the Codex Sinaiticus to Sir George Hill, Director and Principal Librarian of the British Museum. In the centre is Sir Frederick Kenyon.

SCIENCE RESTORES STOLEN BABY

Abducted from her East Side home in New York by a woman posing as a nurse, twenty-five-day-old Patricia Luciano is pictured reunited with her parents after police and medical science had joined to solve one of the strangest kidnapping cases in the city's history. The child was found in the Brooklyn apartment of Mrs. Margaret Stackhouse, a white woman with a negro husband, who insisted that the child was her own. It was only after a blood test that Mrs. Stackhouse admitted her claim to the baby was false.

HERE ON OFFICIAL VISIT

Daughters of Nile Doing Fine Philanthropic Work

Made Over 50,000 Articles For Crippled Children's Hospitals Last Year

Mrs. Mabelle Boone, Supreme Queen, Describes Aims of International Order

Over 50,000 articles were made and given by Daughters of the Nile last year to the fifteen hospitals for crippled children maintained by Shriners throughout the United States and Canada. In addition the Daughters did the mending for these hospitals, and also supplied sheets and similar furnishings.

Mrs. Mabelle Boone, Supreme Queen of the Daughters of the Nile, made this interesting statement yesterday afternoon to a Times reporter, in the course of an interview at the Empress Hotel, where she is a member of Nydia Temple, is visiting Victoria in the course of her annual official tour to all the Daughters of the Nile temples under her jurisdiction, and will tonight officiate at the installation of officers of Miriam Temple. This afternoon she conducted an initiation ceremony for the local temple.

The functions of the Daughters of the Nile are ritualistic, philanthropic and social. They take no part in politics, and are not out to reform the world," was Mrs. Boone's smiling reply to the question as to the aims of this organization. At present there are fifty-five temples, of which two are in the United States. The majority are in the United States, but Canada has several temples, while there is also one in Honolulu.

Temples of Daughters of the Nile can only be formed where there are Shrine Temples, hence their growth is necessarily limited, she explained. Only the wives, daughters, mothers, widows and sisters of Shriners are eligible for membership, which is strictly invitational.

Their principal work, as has been stated, is for the benefit of the fifteen hospitals and hospitals units maintained by the Shriners. Montreal has a fine hospital, Miriam Temple, Victoria, works for the unit maintained by Gizeh Temple of the Mystic Shrine at the Solapur, having endowed a cot and assisted with ornaments and other articles for the little patients.

Mrs. Boone is a member of Nydia Temple, Portland, which has the distinction of being the largest in existence, with a membership of approximately 1,800. Hataus Temple, Seattle, is the "mother" temple, organized twenty years ago, and Miriam Temple, Victoria, was the second to be organized, having been in existence eighteen years.

Vancouver having no Shrine Temple, has a Daughters of the Nile Club, which is a unit of Miriam Temple. Mrs. Boone has just visited the Vancouver group, which is under the leadership of Mrs. Bertha Bottner, and was much entertained during her stay in the mainland city.

The Supreme Queen has been visiting temples throughout the United States and Canada, and her present visit to Victoria marks the termination of her official visit through the Pacific northwest. After leaving here tomorrow, she will return to her home in Portland for a brief stay, before proceeding to California, Arizona, and Honolulu on an official visit. While in California, Mrs. Boone will make preparations for the annual supreme session which is to be held in San Diego during the last week in May.

The Supreme Queen of the Daughters of the Nile holds office for one year, and during that time is expected to make an official visit to all temples under her jurisdiction, to inspire and instruct them, and thus to effect that cohesion of aims and interest in which lies the secret of success.

Mrs. Boone is a member of Nydia Temple, a Past Supreme Queen, and with Mrs. Leveila K. West of Seattle, Past Supreme Queen, will assist Mrs. Boone in the installation ceremony this evening. Other distinguished officers expected for the event include Mrs. Mabel Krows, Past Supreme Queen, and Mrs. Edith E. Gattis, Past Supreme Queen, both of Seattle; Mrs. Rosella Eckart, Queen of Hataus Temple, Seattle, and Mrs. Jennie Lyon, Vancouver, Past Queen of Miriam Temple.

"Agony" Advt. Is New Year Sequel

Incident at St. Paul's Cathedral Between "Bearded Scot" and "Colleen in Green"

London, Jan. 23.—The annual New Year's gathering at St. Paul's Cathedral had a sequel in the columns of a morning paper, where two advertisements appeared.

The first was an appeal—"Will the bearded Scot who greeted the new year by stamping on my foot on steps of St. Paul's Cathedral while singing 'Auld Lang Syne' kindly send thirty shillings to pay medical attendance and this advertisement 'Colleen in Green'."

The bearded Scot apparently paid up, as later the following announcement appeared: "Bearded Scot. Thirty shillings received, prefer not renew acquaintance. Foot still hurts. The offer of XYZ who also answered 'my advertisement' declined with thanks—Colleen in Green."

KIDNAP LETTER IS DISCREDITED

New York Police Think Crank Threatened Doris Duke

Associated Press
New York, Jan. 23.—Police yesterday discredited reports that Doris Duke, heiress of millions, had been threatened with kidnapping, but acknowledged the receipt of a rambling letter about her from Yugoslavia.

Assistant Chief Inspector John J. Sullivan said the letter, written in the native language and mailed from the town of Spolvo, was apparently the work of a crank.

He said the letter, which was addressed to the police commissioner, merely congratulated her on inheriting a large fortune. It enclosed a clipping from the newspaper of the day, saying among other things that Miss Duke was frequently annoyed by curiosity seekers and kidnap threats. On this score the writer expressed sympathy.

Sullivan, declaring there was nothing in the letter to cause anxiety to Miss Duke's safety, said no detectives had been assigned to guard her.

A reception was later held at the home of the bride's mother, only relatives and immediate friends being present.

Adolphe Menjou To Wed Divorcee

Associated Press
Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 22.—Veree Teasdale and Adolphe Menjou plan to be married, probably next August. It was said at the Warner Brothers studio to-day, coincident with the announcement that the actress had been placed under contract there. Menjou is a player on the same lot.

Menjou's divorce from his second wife, Kathryn Carver, will become final in August. His first wife was Katherine Tinsley. Miss Teasdale, niece of the late poetess, Sarah Teasdale, obtained a divorce some time ago from a Chicago man. The couple expect to be married in Spain. Menjou will leave here in May and Miss Teasdale will follow him a few weeks later, it was said.

DEPRESSION SEPARATIONS

Hundreds of Wives Leave Husbands When They Are No Longer Providers

Domestic infidelity which has led to separation between husbands and wives can in hundreds of instances be traced to the depression, according to government officials in charge of the administration of relief.

Since relief was instituted in British Columbia there has been a remarkable increase in the applications received for help from husbands and wives who are living apart, officials report. The opinion is advanced that probably for years the couple led apparently happily married lives. With hard times came troubles which led to domestic unhappiness and quarrels between husbands and wives, both irritable from the strain of living on a meagre income. The husband, no longer the provider for the home, has in the eyes of some wives lost the status that that position gave him.

There are hundreds of cases throughout the province where husbands and wives on relief have separated. Officials believe that many wives, feeling no longer they are dependent on husbands who are on relief, have taken the step that they too can apply for relief and be independent of their husbands. In some cases their differences have been created or accentuated by hard times. In others troubles existed before and the fact the wife could receive relief independently led her to make the break.

Where it is discovered applications are received from a couple which has separated the relief allowance is evenly divided, except in the case where there are children, when the parent in charge of the children receives the larger portion of the relief cheque.

Pastor Roundly Denounces Sex Course As Shame

Associated Press
Chicago, Jan. 23.—Two local Protestant pastors stood squarely behind Rev. John F. O'Hara, vice-president of Notre Dame, yesterday in denunciation of what he called a "course in concubinage" at Columbia University.

"I consider it a shame and a disgrace that universities should require students to take sex courses," Rev. Dr. Frederick Shannon, pastor of Central Church in Orchestra Hall, said in his sermon Sunday.

In the Chicago Temple Dr. John Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, said he was shocked and appalled by the course of his next Sunday's sermon to the topic.

The air is charged with new life and ideas," he said. "Unquestionably all cultured people read with shock the article dealing with the course in sex relations at Columbia University."

WOMAN'S NECK BROKEN

Seattle, Jan. 23 (Associated Press)—Mrs. Fred Sick injured fatally, and her husband shaken and bruised when their automobile ran off the Tacoma-Seattle highway and overturned just south of the Seattle city limits early yesterday. Both were trapped under the machine for several minutes before passing motorists rescued them.

Sick said something apparently broke in the steering mechanism. His wife was driving. The machine suddenly veered across the road, ran into a ditch and overturned. Mrs. Sick's neck was broken.

The Sicks came to Seattle three months ago from Calgary. They also formerly lived at Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. He is plant superintendent of a Seattle brewing company.

WOMEN NOT WORDY SEX

Old Illusion Again Refuted By Frances Perkins in Brief
Government Report

Canadian Press
Washington, Jan. 23.—This would seem to refute the oft-heard statement that females form the wordy sex. The first annual report of the first woman member of a United States government set a new low on wordage, and cut a new pattern. What Frances Perkins had to say about the Labor Department consumed, in print, but six pages and five lines.

Instead of simply summarizing a twelve-month, with some recommendations for the future, she put down a definite labor programme; and made a prediction that six specific temporary gains would last.

Astor Betrothal Is Cancelled

Associated Press
New York, Jan. 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence L. Gillespie have announced that the engagement of their daughter, Miss Eileen S. S. Gillespie, to John Jacob Astor, Third, has been cancelled. The engagement had been announced last December 15.

The bare announcement of the cancellation given out by Miss Gillespie's family was not amplified.

Sisters and brothers and friends will be welcome and members are asked to bring refreshments.

IS IT HUSBAND GARBO SEES?

It was just a vacation trip, they say, but if Hollywood gossip has any basis, Greta Garbo may be looking up at her future husband, Konstantin Mamoulian, in this fetching pose. Their motor trip through Arizona added weight to the romance reports, but the Swedish film sphinx and the high-priced director from the Caucasus smile and shake their heads when questioned.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

CHILD'S PROFANITY USUALLY SHORT-LIVED

Children have a way of becoming noticeably obstreperous. Usually the moment they begin to play with other children. At least, the mother is always sure that until her boy clattered with those neighbor children he was never guilty of bad language or of insulting adults or other children by calling them bad names.

COINCIDENCE

Quite often the advent of new companions and the propensity to use profanity and insulting terms are merely coincidences. At about the fourth year children begin to run around without the close supervision of the mother. Exactly at this age, also, the acquisition of a profane vocabulary seems most satisfying to them.

An authority who has made a study of this matter declares that in four years of age the child delights in deflating his elders by addressing them in such terms as "nut" and "dumb-bell," and whatever else happens to be the reigning term of derision.

ONLY TEMPORARY

While there are adults who never outgrow this four year old tendency, the average child finds it only a temporary delight. For the most part, being able to denounce everyone he meets as much dumber than himself is bound to elevate his own pun self-esteem. When he has some real cause for self-esteem, he won't need to use this article.

If one can't reason the child out of such temporary habits, it seems better to retain one's dignity, ignore them and allow him a chance to drop them more quickly. If one has ever discovered that punishment or other methods of enforcing respect have much effect on the child, this is far more efficient in making the use of bad language seem as silly and childish as it is.

SAANICH OPENS ITS WORKROOM

Twelve Women Registered;
Quarters Opened To-day at Regina and Douglas

Mrs. J. Allen was elected president of the Saanich Women's Workroom at an organization meeting held yesterday afternoon in St. Mark's Hall. Other officers chosen were Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Coles, and supervisor, Mrs. M. A. McKague.

The workroom, in premises at the corner of Regina Avenue and Douglas Street, generously placed at the disposal of the committee by Mrs. J. Grist, will be opened to-day to begin operations. At yesterday's meeting it was decided, after some discussion, that for the time being the premises will be kept open only three afternoons weekly, namely, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, from 1 to 5 o'clock.

Twelve women have registered as workers, and will be occupied in very much the same kind of work as those employed at the Women's Workroom in Victoria, namely, the making over of old clothing and the manufacture of new materials into garments that will be put on sale, with the idea of making the workroom as nearly self-supporting as possible. In order to carry on, however, donations of materials, both secondhand and new, are absolutely essential, and will be called for on receipt of telephone message, care of Mrs. Allen, R 7229. Money will also be acceptable.

The movement to open the workroom has already received support in the district. A sewing machine has been donated, also a cord of wood and two or three sacks of coal for heating purposes. Although a few chairs have been given or lent more are required, and such articles as a cutting-out table, an ironingboard, electric iron, scissors, and other equipment of the kind will be gratefully received.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

CLOSELY RESEMBLES POULTRY IN FLAVOR AND APPEARANCE, AND IS EXCELLENT FRIED OR WHEN USED IN SALADS

By SISTER MARY

Wild rabbits always have been an important source of food during their "season," but it has been within the past few years that the value of the domesticated rabbit as a producer of food has been recognized and appreciated.

Comparatively few housewives realize the possibilities of tame rabbit. It can be prepared and served in numerous ways that are both appetizing and unusual. Furthermore, it is a nutritious and delicious meat, closely resembling poultry in food value, appearance and flavor.

Rabbit salad will prove a welcome change from chicken salad for a supper party when a hearty salad is wanted. Steamed or boiled rabbit is better for this than roast rabbit because it is not so dry.

RABBIT SALAD
Two cups diced rabbit, 1 cup finely shredded cabbage, 1-2 cup chopped green pepper, 1-2 teaspoon salt, paprika, French dressing, mayonnaise, 6 stuffed olives.

Marinate rabbit in French dressing for one hour. Drain and combine with cabbage, pepper, salt and mayonnaise to make moist. Arrange on a bed of lettuce and garnish with olives cut in slices. Half celery and half cabbage can be used if preferred.

Rabbit also makes an excellent stew. Onions, celery, carrots and potatoes combine well to make a savory dish. The rabbit is disjointed in pieces for serving and put on to cook for half an hour before the onions and celery are added. When almost done, the carrots and potatoes cut in neat dice are added. It will take about three hours to prepare and cook the stew.

Young rabbit is delicious fried just as spring chicken is. After disjointing, let the rabbit stand in cold water for two hours. Then drain and roll in well-seasoned flour. Brown quickly in hot fat, bacon fat is good, cover and cook slowly for one hour. Serve with creamed cauliflower.

RABBIT EN CASSEROLE
One rabbit, about 9 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon powdered sage, 1/4 teaspoon white pepper, 4 cups milk, 4 tablespoons butter, salt and pepper, 4 thin slices bacon.

Disjoint rabbit in pieces for serving. Mix and sift flour, sage, salt and pepper. Coat each piece of rabbit with this mixture. Sauté rabbit in fat in a hot spider until brown on all sides. Place in a casserole and cover with bacon. Melt butter, stir in flour and slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and pour over rabbit. Bake in a moderate oven for two hours or until the rabbit is tender.

Has No Use for Colorblind Singers

Radio director insists each singer, at rehearsals, think steadily of a color supposed to create correct mood for the performance. Choice seems to swing mostly from fevered to bleary blue, unless they plan to buy or sell some good, used musical instrument, or anything else. Then they'll naturally think only of the black and white of classified ads like The Times.

MEMBERSHIP

Y.M.C.A. Board of Directors

Hears Statements of Success in Various Sections

Highest figures in several years were shown in the reports placed before the board of directors yesterday by the membership and boys' work committees. For the month of December, normally not a bright month for the association, the senior membership reached an abnormally high figure of 424, and the boys' department recorded

280 members in active attendance.

In the course of the board meeting tribute was paid to the heroism of

Arthur Stott and the late Dr. Fred

Harling in the recent Poul Bay disaster, and a resolution of sympathy was passed to the relatives of the dentist who lost his life in an attempt to save others.

Both Arthur Stott and Dr. Harling were connected closely with the association through the swimming section of the physical department.

The boys' division report drew attention to the success of the second boys' and girls' hobbles fair held in the Hibben-Bone

Building during the last week of the month. The Victoria

Y.M.C.A. was represented by Ted Chapman.

Attention was drawn in other reports to the success of the guest week held last week with the object of familiarizing the public of Victoria with the work of the Y.M.C.A. and of the various classes which the association is now running with considerable success, notably in the public speaking line.

Blue Ribbons Flash Form That Won Them Canadian Championship

Local Footballers Forced To Play Matches Under Bad Conditions

Bob O'Farrell Completes Roster of 1934 Baseball Managers

Basketball fans who watched the Blue Ribbons flash form at the Victoria High School gymnasium last night, will feel the champions performed every bit as good as when they took the title in the Canadian Finals last spring. Against McKays of Seattle, the Ribbons had all the edge against them, and they came through under the test like real champions. The boys are in tip-top condition and all they need now is some good stiff practice on a few set plays when their fast-breaking attack fails to get them in close to the basket of their opponents.

Highlight of Saturday's game was the uncovering of young Doug Peden as an offensive threat. Up until the game with McKays, Peden had been paired with Chuck Chapman on the defense, and was developing into a first-rate guard. However, Saturday, the Ribbons were sorely in need of points, and Manager Cook decided to try Doug on the front line, and how he came through! His speed and deadly shot had the Seattle guards up in the air. More important still was his fighting spirit, something the Ribbons have been lacking all season. There is little doubt that Peden will remain on the forward line, and Manager Cook now has the worry of trying to find or develop a good guard. He has solved one problem only to meet another.

Saturday afternoon players in the first division of the Coast Football League engaged in a pair of matches at the lower Beacon Hill and Heywood Avenue grounds under the worst conditions possible. The pitches were covered with mud and a steady downpour had the players drenched to the skin a few minutes after the opening whistle. It was a lot to ask men to get out and play under such conditions but to make matters worse, the end of the game and during the half-time interval, the players had no shelter, and tried to keep dry in the automobiles that lined the grounds. At the end of the matches the players were forced to get into cars and go home in their mud-soaked and wet clothes. It only seems right that some arrangements should be made to make for better conditions, or else call off matches on the open pitches when weather conditions are bad.

Bob O'Farrell has signed as manager of the Cincinnati Reds, completing the roster of major league managers for 1934. Not many will remember O'Farrell as one of the principal actors in one of the most stirring bits of baseball drama of our times. That was in the last game of the 1926 world series. O'Farrell was catching for the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cards managed to get a one-run lead as the hard-fought game drew to a close. Then the New York Yankees threatened in the seventh inning, filling the bases with two out.

As Lazzeri came to bat, Manager Hornsby of the Cards ordered catcher Catcher O'Farrell and Pitcher Jesse Haines. As a result he waved to Grover Cleveland Alexander, who had been wheping in the pen. Alex, still was rubbing the sleep from his eyes, he shuffled to the box. He and O'Farrell held a brief conversation. O'Farrell told the befuddled veteran what it was all about.

"This kid (Lazzeri) has been over-anxious to hit all during the series," O'Farrell muttered to the veteran catcher.

"Okay, Bob, keep your shirt on and let him down on strikes," was Grover's amazing reply.

O'Farrell went back to his position and called for a straight one right down in the groove. Lazzeri let it pass. But the next ball was close to being a serious mistake. It was a half-pitch, inside. Lazzeri took a terrific cut, but just a second too soon, and the ball went foul into deep left. Strike two.

O'Farrell squatted at once behind the plate, it being his idea not to let Tony get an idea close to being a serious mistake. It was a half-pitch, inside. Lazzeri took a terrific cut, but just a second too soon, and the ball went foul into deep left. Strike two.

Four Major Projects Before Local Ball Carriers During Rest of Season

CAMBRIDGE MAY VISIT PROVINCE

To brighten the jaded eyes of Victoria's outstanding rugby material, dulled by watching the city's McKechie Cup chances slip, the British Columbia Rugby Union at its meeting yesterday evening in Vancouver, held out four glittering visions.

They included a trip to California by a British Columbia rep squad, from March 3 to 10.

Two trips to Vancouver for a Victoria all-star squad on February 10 and March 30, the last two fixtures for the McKechie Cup series.

And another invasion of the Terminal City by the local senior A champions on March 24 in quest of the Rounsfell Cup, emblematic of the B.C. club title.

Word to this effect was learned from H. J. Ketchen, secretary of the provincial union, on his return to-day.

The California series will be the major plum of this season's rugby. Last season the provincial team went through the southern opposition without a defeat in the first invasion of that territory. In the Christmas-New Year schedule of the Stanford University of California team, British Columbia fifteen won three of four games. Vancouver, North Shore All-Blacks and Victoria taking their exhibitions while the University of British Columbia dropped its encounter.

KETCHEN IS MANAGER
When the provincial squad moves south, it will be under the protective wing of H. J. Ketchen, Victoria, who was named manager of the squad for the trip. Jim Scott, Vancouver, was nominated as coach, but declined to take that position and the matter was left in abeyance.

As a further departure and possible stimulant to the English code here, the British Columbia union decided to communicate directly with Cambridge University to open negotiations which include a tour of the eastern Canadian provinces, unless bids already made by the Vancouver union for the visit are accepted.

In a statement on the matter to-day, Mr. Ketchen said indications pointed to the sending of the Cambridge team including several English international players. He will proceed with negotiations to have the Englishmen come here when they start on their invasion of this continent. No effort will be spared to have them come to the coast if financial arrangements can be made.

The outlook on the latter provision looked exceptionally bright since the Canadian head of the rugby union has indicated the students were prepared to meet most of their own expenses.

SELECTION COMMITTEE
To pick the team for the California trip, a selection committee of Captain Bobbie Ken Mercer and one other from Victoria has been elected. A suggestion was made that Jim Underhill accompany the squad south as referee in order to enlighten the less experienced Californian arbiters, but feeling it might be "breeding on someone's territory" it has been agreed to send a letter to Harry Maloney to more or less feel him out.

Athletes who played Canadian rugby until the season was over and then transferred their affections to the English code will not be allowed to make the journey south.

Debate have been named for the California invasion by an A.B.C. square football match slated for Vancouver on March 24 was expected to be a duel between the North Shore All-Blacks and Charlie Morrison's Fifth Brigade of Victoria. Neither squad has tasted defeat so far this season.

TO REPRESENT CANADA

New York, Jan. 23.—Canada will be represented by two of its outstanding runners at the Mitroff track and field meeting in Madison Square Garden, February 3.

Bert Pearson, Hamilton's sixteen-year-old holder of the Dominion 100 and 220 title the last two years, has entered the sixty-yard dash. He will oppose Ralph Metcalf, the Marquette flier; Emmett Toppino, New Orleans, and thirteen others.

Fred Shaver, Hamilton, the Canadian intercollegiate quarter and half-mile champion, has entered the 300-yard special against an all-star field, including Ned Turner, 1933 winner, to whom Shaver ran second.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 23.—Frankie Wallace, Cleveland, got the nod from Referee Tommy Mulgrew in a free slugging affair with Frankie Klick, San Francisco, at Public Hall yesterday evening after ten fast rounds in which the recent conqueror of Kid Chocolate shook the Cleveland twice with blows that looked good for victory. Klick weighed 183½, Wallace 131½.

RUGBY HEADS SEEK TO HAVE TAX REMOVED

Sponsor Move to Interview Government Regarding Removal of Amusement Tax

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 23.—Another sport organization has loaded its guns in preparation for a proposed hunting trip in Victoria and to spoil the 10 per cent amusement tax levied on all amateur sport games. The hunters are members of the B.C. Rugby Union Executive. This decision was reached at a meeting of the provincial group here yesterday evening.

H. J. Ketchen, secretary of the Union and Victoria delegate, is the organizer of the trip, at the request of the Victoria Union, and his reason for putting the matter before the government in Victoria, hinged on the treasurer's report regarding the recent California series. According to the report there was a loss of approximately $600 suffered on the series and the tax taken from the total receipts would add about another $200 to the deficit.

Thus a general call is being sent out to secretaries of all amateur sport bodies in the province and a meeting is to be held at which a deputation will be selected to protest in Victoria against the tax.

Spencers to Meet Macabees in Mid-week Soccer Feature To-morrow

Hudson's Bay and James Bay Liberals should put up an interesting battle at Beacon Hill, with the Bays slight favorites to come through with a win. At Work Point the Combies will find some good opposition in the sailors.

Taking a 2 to 1 lead in the first period, Lions tackled on four counters in the second without a reply, and kept even with Blues in the last when both teams scored twice.

The victory sent Lions four points ahead of Portland, Edmonton and Seattle who are tied with seventeen points.

Charlie Conacher Remains in Front; Joliat and Frank Boucher Make Gains

PRIMEAU SECOND IN LEAGUE LIST

Montreal, Jan. 23.—Only one little figure arises in the Canadian section of the National Hockey League to prevent the erstwhile "kid line" of Toronto Maple Leafs from complete domination of top positions in the scoring statistics.

Weekly tabulations yesterday evening showed Charlie Conacher, Joe Primeau and Harvey Jackson, for years one of the most potent scoring lines in hockey, are on the head of the list together, but Jackson's hold on third place is shared by Aurel Joliat, Montreal Canadiens, who is soon to play his 500th game in the big tent.

Conacher, right wing of the famed Toronto line, still dominated the whole league, both in goals scored and in total points, having blazed home nineteen goals and given nine assists for the impressive total of twenty-eight points in twenty-eight games. He scored two goals and one assist in his last week of campaigning.

PRIMEAU IMPRESSIVE
Primeau's week was even more impressive. He netted two goals and gave four assists to bring his total to 7-18-25, for second place in the whole league.

But the United States division could not be entirely kept out of the honor list, thanks to Frankie Boucher, clever playmaking centre of the New York Rangers who, with five added points, boosted his total to 8-16-24, for third spot in the league.

Three Canadian division leaders followed, Joliat and Jackson with twenty-one points each, and Earl Roche of the Leafs, who went down the river during the week-end, with twenty points. Hockey observers of long standing could not recall a case of a man of such ranking having been loaned to the minors.

CLAY PLAYERS
In the penalty parade, Joe Primeau and Frank Boucher again attracted attention by their clean records. Primeau has yet to serve a penalty. Boucher has been two minutes with the timekeeper to bring his Hockey record to zero.

Cricket Team From East May Perform On Victoria Pitch

Local Association Will Make Effort to Bring Crack Squad Here

Percy Payne Is Re-elected Head

Local cricket followers may have the opportunity of seeing one of the smartest cricket teams in eastern Canada playing here this summer, if plans formulated by the Victoria and District Cricket Association materialize, according to Percy C. Payne, president of the organization. Another step in intercity cricket is being made with the announcement that a Victoria team will tour California late in September, providing satisfactory arrangements can be made. The inter-city matches with the mainland, both of which were won last year by Victoria, will be continued. Home-and-home games played with Seattle are to be repeated this season.

PAYNE RE-ELECTED

Paying a tribute to the excellent work he has done in the interest of the game, local cricketers last night re-elected Percy C. Payne as president of the Victoria and District Cricket Association at the annual meeting held in the board-room of The Colonist. Mr. Payne first held the office twenty years ago, and has occupied it off and on several times since.

President Payne, in presenting his annual report, congratulated last year's champions and informed the meeting that the success of the last season was due in no little way to the co-operation he had received from his executive. The financial report showed the association to be in a sound position with a substantial balance on hand to open the coming season. Annual reports submitted by the retiring officers were adopted.

The association will support juvenile cricket and assist it in every way possible, fully realizing that in order to keep them in the game the youngsters must be looked after. Five teams played in this division last year. A constitution committee was appointed to draw up new regulations governing the association. This will be done in the near future and presented to the executive for adoption. The league schedule will be conducted along the same lines as last year. The date of the annual meeting has been changed from sometime in January to early in October.

AFTER NEW PARK
For the purpose of acquiring the use of the McDonald Park, officials of the league will interview the City Council. With the addition of this park, Victoria will have another good ground at its disposal. Last year matches were played at Beacon Hill, University School grounds, Work Point Barracks and Hampton Road.

The complete slate of officers for the 1934 season follows: Honorary president, Hon. A. Wells; president, Percy C. Payne; vice-president, Rev. F. Comley; treasurer, J. A. Longfield; secretary, J. R. P. Pitt. The following were named on the selection committee, and at the same time given the authority to name all the representative teams for the season: Ben. W. Martin, H. A. Goward, Patison, R. J. Darcus and Freeman.

ALBERTA HOCKEY
Calgary, Jan. 22.—Calgary-Bronks yesterday evening came from behind to defeat the Victoria team 3 to 2 in overtime in the third period to tie up the score and defeat Calgary Rangers 4 to 3, in overtime in a Southern Alberta Senior Amateur Hockey League fixture. The result puts both teams in a three-way tie with Drumheller Miners.

IRVIN'S BIT OF STRATEGY WAS FAILURE

Referee Spoiled Master-minding of Coach of Toronto Maple Leafs

Toronto, Jan. 23.—Dick Irvin is convinced there is no use master-minding if referees are going to spoil it all. The Toronto Maple Leafs' hockey coach told today of a bit of strategy that misfired in the Toronto-Detroit National Hockey League game Sunday night because, he contends, a whistle sounded when it should have been silent.

Red Wings were leading 3 to 2 in overtime and Irvin had five men camped around the Detroit net trying to tie the score. He noticed George Hainsworth, in the Leaf goal, had not been bothered by a Detroit shot for some minutes and motioned him off the ice, putting Charlie Conacher into the play.

One of the referees saw six Leaf sweaters around the Detroit net and concluding Leafs had seven men on the ice, blew his whistle. Irvin claims that until play was halted the Wings were unsure the Toronto net was unguarded.

Toronto kept six men driving at Wilf Cude but the Wings now jockeyed kept the rubber down the ice and finally Charlie Lewis succeeded, shooting from one end of the rink to the other and into the Toronto net. It was Wings' fourth goal and made their victory certain, besides doing things to Irvin's master-minding.

Sir Malcolm Campbell May Seek New Record

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 23.—The next speed trials of Sir Malcolm Campbell, holder of the world automobile record, may be made over the salt bed in the desert west of this city, his United States representative, William F. Sturm, Indianapolis, informed the Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Sturm advised Gus P. Barkman, secretary of the chamber, that he will come here soon to study the course. Whether the salt crust would support the five-ton British racing car was not determined.

He is taking a salary slash of $17,000, but Babe Ruth was not exactly downcast when, as pictured above, he signed a 1934 contract for $33,000 in the presence of Colonel Jacob Ruppert (left), owner of the New York Yankees. In spite of the reduction from his 1933 salary of $50,000, the home-run swatter still remains the highest paid player in both major baseball leagues.

Victoria Bike Rider and Partner Setting Pace in Six-day Race at Buffalo

Buffalo, Jan. 23.—Torrey Peden, the Canadian champion from Victoria, B.C., aided by his teammate, Freddy Ottevaire, today had pedaled into a one-lap lead in the international six-day bicycle race.

While slightly behind on points the Canadian-Italian duo held a one-lap lead over Australia's Reggie McNamara and Rebol, Hill-Croasley and the J. Walthour-Behaller teams. The latter three combinations were tied for the second position four laps ahead of the next pair.

The standings follow:

Bill Stoeck Dies Suddenly
Prominent Vancouver Sportsman Passes; Was Active Rugby Official

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Jan. 23.—Charles Wilfrid "Bill" Stoeck, well-known Vancouver sportsman and vice-president of the British Columbia Rugby Union, died in St. Paul's Hospital, here, yesterday evening, after a short illness.

Mr. Stoeck was born here in 1898. He served in the motor launch corps of the British Navy, which cruised the English Channel during the war and took a keen interest in naval affairs ever since his return. Mr. Stoeck played an active part in provincial rugby affairs and last year took the B.C. team to California. He was also prominent in the Young Conservative Association.

Tatanne Nominated For Kentucky Derby

Associated Press
Louisville, Ky., Jan. 23.—Announcement that Tatanne, Mrs. J. Zoller's winner of the Jefferson Derby at New Orleans, last Saturday, was the first nomination for the 1934 Kentucky Derby, was made yesterday at Churchill Downs, here. The Derby will be run on May 5.

GOLF AT DUNCAN
Duncan, Jan. 23.—In a "bogey" competition played here on Sunday, W. B. Harper and Gordon Whan tied with a score of 3 up. They will play-off on Thursday. There were seven entries as follows: R. Mangum, M. R. Craig, N. E. Suddaby, J. E. Pugh, N. Martin, N. Alan Rhodes, Dr. W. W. Tarlton, H. S. Fox, T. S. Haverly, Colonel A. P. M. Slater, C. H. Alder, Smith, E. W. Carr-Hilton, T. H. Kingscote, W. P. West and David Crane.

Gordon Whan turned in a score of 65 on Thursday last, while playing with W. B. Cornwell. Although this can not stand as a course record, owing to temporary greens and tees, it is a meritorious performance for this young player, who is only fifteen years of age.

Athletes Must Obtain Cards

All athletes are advised that amateur cards procured during 1933 have now expired and are renewable as from January 1, 1934. The current year's issues are available through Percy Watson, commissioner for the City of Victoria, and are serviceable until December 31, 1934.

All sports affiliated through the A.A.U. of B.C. are advised of this matter, and those members now applying for cards should be at the City of Victoria, and are requested to safeguard their interests.

Rugby Matches Are Announced

Full List of Fixtures Released; Scottish-Bays Feature Match

Rugby fixtures for Saturday, announced this morning by Secretary Pauline of the Victoria Rugby Union, follow:

Senior A—16th Canadian Scottish vs. J.B.A.A. Wanderers vs. "Tomnies" vs. Garrison.
Intermediate League—J.B.A.A. Wanderers, 5th Regiment vs. 16th Canadian Scottish.
All matches will start at 2:45 o'clock. Grounds for the fixtures will be set at to-night's meeting of the union.
The Scottish-B.A.A. match promises to be the feature in the senior A division. Last week the Bays checked in with a 11 to 0 victory over the Wanderers, to go into a tie for first place in the second half with the undefeated 5th Regiment fifteen. With the Gunners idle on Saturday, the J.B.A.A. squad will have an opportunity of taking undisputed occupation of top berth.

Kingham-Gillespie Defeats Students

Playing at the First United gymnasium yesterday evening, Kingham-Gillespie defeated Chinese Students 41 to 35 in a Sunday School Basketball League fixture.

Nanaimo Rugger In One-sided Win
Vancouver, Jan. 23.—A brilliant Nanaimo fifteen ran rampant over a completely out-classed Bowling Club team to chalk up a 12 to 0 victory in a second division Vancouver English Rugby Union League fixture here Saturday, and served notice they will be one of the strongest, if not the leading, team of the league when the season winds up.

By their victory Saturday the islanders came within easy striking distance of the league leaders, Marpole, and stand an excellent chance of stepping up into first division company next year. So far, Nanaimo have lost only one game, while Marpole have a perfect record.

Gilmore Oil Squad To Battle Ribbons

Undeclared Seattle Basketball Team to Appear Here Saturday

Victoria basketball fans will be afforded the opportunity of seeing one of the sweetest cage teams on the Pacific Coast in action at the Victoria High School gym Saturday night when the Gilmore Oil quintette, undefeated Seattle squad, make their appearance here against the Blue Ribbons, Dominion titleholders. In the preliminary game, Lake Hill and Cardinals, Intermediate A girls' teams, will clash at 7:45 o'clock. Tommy Macedo and Norman Hill will handle the intercity attraction.

After taking the measure of the highly-touted McKays last week, the Ribbons are all primed up for their fixture with the Vickers. The Canadian champions are playing bangup ball at this stage and will be out to quieten the roar of the Gilmore lion. Manager Ernie Cook will put his boys through a couple of stiff workouts in preparation for Saturday's important struggle and will enter the fray at full strength.

SEEK REVENGE
Playing at Vancouver early this morning the Blue Ribbons bowed to the Gilmore Oil men after a great exhibition of the leather handling code, and if for no other reason than to get revenge, they will be anxious to turn back the smart Sound City aggregation at the High School Saturday night. In the mainland fixture the locals were unfortunate in losing Chuck Chapman on four personals, just at a time when they were clicking.

The visitors will invade the city with their regulars in uniform, and a long string of unbroken victories. Playing in league fixture Sunday at Seattle the Oilmen registered their ninth straight win by defeating the strong Horvuts quintette, 38 to 22. Hank Swanson, one of the sweetest ball handlers in the Pacific Northwest, will be at centre for the visitors, with Johnny Fuller and Walt Falor as forwards. This trio of sharpshooters will give the local guards plenty of worry. Two strong guards, Morrison and Freeman, will complete the starting lineup for the Gilmore Oil representatives. Johnny Fuller and Stunna will be on the bench and ready to jump into the game at a minute's notice.

PETROLLE IS AFTER TITLE

Veteran Fargo Battler Wants Another Crack at Jimmy McLarnin

New York, Jan. 23.—Billy Petrolle yesterday joined the thickening pack on the trail of Jimmy McLarnin.

The veteran ringster halted his training for the fight to-morrow night against the lightweight champion, Barney Ross, long enough to voice his yearning for a whack at the welter crown worn by McLarnin.

The "old man" from Fargo, N.D., who has bowed over most of the really great boys of his weight during eleven years of nose quisting, said he wanted to win a title before quitting the ring.

Back in 1930 he gave McLarnin one of the toughest battles of his career, and he thinks he can do it again, that, despite the fact Jimmy got Bull back into the ring twice later on and artistically walloped him on both occasions.

They have been saying here that Petrolle's twenty-nine years will likely be too great a weight for him to carry against the fleet-footed, twenty-four-year-old Ross. That was suggested to him, yesterday, and that was how he got around to talking about the Canadian welterweight ruler.

AS GOOD AS EVER
"I know myself that I am just about as good as a fiver was," he said, flicking his hand and over-sized proboscis with the gloved left hand that had all but put away the sparring partner he's been smearing for three rounds.

"I live out in the open and take faithful care of myself. I'm still ambitious, too. It is McLarnin and his title I am after. If I beat Ross, like I think I can, that will be a good start."

But Billy isn't convinced yet that McLarnin is his master. In fact, he isn't convinced he has a master. That is why the non-titular clash, to-morrow, between Ross and Petrolle promises to be a sell-out. Those who are expert in fights are not at all unanimous in the scientific little machine from Chicago who leads the lightweight will be able to take ten rounds of Petrolle's left-handed dynamite.

B.C. Amateur Ice Play-offs Arranged

Vancouver, Jan. 23.—An all-star team picked from the four teams of the Big Four Commercial Hockey League (Vancouver) will meet the winner of the West Kootenay Amateur Hockey League to decide the British Columbia team to travel east in the Allan Cup play-downs.

Two all-star teams will be chosen from the league and will play a two-out-of-three series with the winner meeting the interior title.

The Vancouver entry in the British Columbia final must be declared by March 5.

Sepalla to Drive In Quebec Derby

Quebec, Jan. 23.—Leonhard Sepalla, veteran musher, who has figured in nearly every dog race in Quebec, will drive a team again in this winter's international derby to be run three days, February 23, 24 and 25. The Alaskan driver will this year mush the team of huskies entered by J. D. McInerney, Philadelphia, it was learned from race officials yesterday.

Herb Pennock Is Signed By Boston

Boston, Jan. 23.—A bit of its old-time color was added to the Boston Red Sox Saturday when General Manager Eddie Collins signed Herb Pennock, forty-year-old left-hander, who has been toiling in the American League since 1912. The veteran, given his unconditional release by the New York Yankees about two weeks ago, was a Red Sox star from 1913 to 1923, when Harry Frazee let him go in his wholesale dealings with the Yanks.

North Shore Wins Vancouver Rugby

Vancouver, Jan. 23.—North Shore All Blacks added the city championship to their Tisdall Cup Saturday when they handed Ex-Magee, Miller Cup holders, a 19 to 0 trouncing. Saturday's win gave the powerful North Shore club a record of thirteen victories through out the season for a total of 238 points, compared with the twenty-four scored against them.

Kimberley Wins Interior Hockey

Kimberley, Jan. 23.—Kimberley Dynamos practically clinched second place in the West Kootenay Amateur Hockey League here yesterday evening when they noosed out Roseland, cellar occupants, 8 to 2.

The victory left Dynamos trailing the league-leading Trail Smoke Eaters by six points, and the same distance ahead of the third place Nelson Red Wings.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Which Is Worse, Romantic Goose of a Wife or Her Undemonstrative Husband?—Never Trust a Tale-bearer!

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a woman of forty-five, happily married to a splendid man, and we have a big family of 'teen-age boys and girls. We haven't much money and I have to work hard, but I don't mind that because I am repaid in having a happy home, a contented husband, bringing up a lot of fine young people. I know my husband loves me devotedly, but he seldom gives any outward expression of his affection and I find I am heart-hungry much of the time. I would be supremely happy in spite of very little of this world's goods if only he would tell me that he still loves me and manifest some of the tenderness that I know he feels for me. Can't you say something that will make him realize how little I ask?

LONELY.

Answer—I get thousands of letters like this one, and as I read them I never know which I think has the less intelligence, the romantic goose of a wife or the bottled-up refrigerator of a husband. Anyway, I'd like to knock their stupid heads together and make them see a few stars that might guide them along the way of happiness.

Between the two I think I would give the medal for dumbness to the husband. For here is a man with a wife whom he really loves and appreciates. He realizes that her life isn't an easy one. He sees her working early and late to make a comfortable home for him and his children. He knows that she makes many sacrifices; that she goes shabby when she would like to have pretty clothes; that she stays at home when she would like to step out to places of amusement. And there are times when that hurts him. He would like to dolly her up in Paris finery, and give her an expensive car and surround her with every luxury. But he hasn't the money to do it.

But he could give her the one thing in the world that she craves more than anything else, the one thing that she would value more than she would all of the limousines in a motor show; the one thing that would make her happier than if he could present her with all the fine frocks along Fifth Avenue. And that is a little high-pressure love-making.

She would rather have his arms go spontaneously around her than have a matched pearl necklace about her throat. She would rather have him tell her that she is the most beautiful woman in the world to him and that she grows dearer and dearer to him every day than listen to grand opera. One kiss that was warm with passion instead of being a peck on the cheek would keep her warmer than the finest sable coat that ever came out of Russia.

And the man knows this. He knows that a little jollying would set the sun in his wife's face and make her perfectly happy, and he won't do it. All she asks is a compliment or so. A few kind words, and he won't say them. Can you beat that for lack of sense?

Unless the wife beats it by her lack of intelligence in making herself miserable over an imaginary trouble, because she does know that her inarticulate husband does love her even if he never feels called upon to mention the fact.

She knows that any man who is as domestic as the house cat and who tells early and late to keep his wife soft and comfortable is giving a proof of devotion that is beyond all question. He is simply saying it with pot roasts and spinach instead of orchids.

In reality, every woman who has a brain that functions even on one cylinder knows that deeds count more than words, and that the husbands who are glib love-makers at home are often rather not philanderers abroad. They have the habit.

Also, every woman who has any sense whatever knows to the last hair's breadth just exactly how much affection her husband has for her. She has an intuition that enables her to gauge the warmth of his love and it tells her when he is tired of her and when he has ceased to care for her and not all the love talk in the world could really fool her. And equally well a woman knows when her husband loves her. She knows it by his tenderness, by his patience, by his always wanting her around, by a thousand little signs that never fail.

And so, having this line upon their husbands, why should wives put such stress on a few words? Why would they want a man to forewear himself to his wife if he didn't love her? And why should a woman eat her heart out in longing for her husband to tell her of his love when she is already assured of it?

Goodness only knows. It is idiotic of them, but they do. And it is asinine in a man to know his wife could be made happy by a few words and to refuse to say them.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a girl of twenty-three, very much in love with a boy whom I have never had any reason to doubt. I only see him on week-ends, as the other nights he is busy trying to get an education that was denied him. I trust him completely, but there is a certain person who keeps telling me: "Don't trust any man. They are all cheats. And how do you know he is at school? etc. etc. Then he goes on to say that even after marriage the husband still goes out with other women. He says: "I am a man and I know." I have heard so much talk about husbands not being true that I am afraid to marry. What shall I do?

CAROLE.

Answer—The man who is trying to poison your mind with suspicions of your sweetheart is evidently bent on making mischief between you. Never trust a tale-bearer. He or she always has an ulterior motive and most often makes up the story he or she relates.

All happiness in marriage is based on faith.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THE POLAR REGIONS OF THE EARTH RECEIVE AS MUCH HEAT AS THE EQUATOR DURING A PERIOD OF ABOUT A MONTH OF THE POLAR SUMMER.

PRINTING THE TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES OF NEW YORK CITY CONSTITUTES ONE OF THE NATION'S LARGEST PUBLISHING INDUSTRIES.

THE EARTH rotates upon an axis which is 23½ degrees from perpendicular. Therefore, for a time during the year, the North Pole is turned toward the sun, and the South Pole is turned away from it. Later, the conditions are reversed. During these periods, the sun swings from 23½ degrees north of the equator to a like distance south of it.
